

HALSTEAD

As Seen in the Halstead Blog on August 1, 2017

A car-free strip perfect for afterhours socializing. Newark Avenue, right off Grove Street, is a closed off strip that allows urbanites and suburbanites to unite and form a community. Not only does the avenue boost local business, it provides a spacious, comfortable setting for one to meet with friends and family. Home to several delicious restaurants, bars and boutique shops, Newark Avenue forms a community of its own. Need a guide on the best places to go on this awesome walkway? Look no further.

South House

Incorporating Southern and Spanish roots, this relaxing, friendly bar makes one feel right at home. Sip cocktails on comfy couches and rocking chairs, all while enjoying the best Southern hospitality. No reservations, no time limit; just hang out and enjoy yourself. The Texas born hotspot also features a basement game room with pool tables and other gaming tables. Their menu promises simple Southern favorites like Texas-style brisket, pulled pork, deviled eggs and fried pickles.

Porta

Known for their Neapolitan pizza, this restaurant is perfect for comfortable dining and entertainment. With three floors of fun, this venue is perfect for any type of party. The lower level is dedicated to delicious fine dining, and the top floors to unforgettable fun. On the weekends, the top floor opens to the public, revealing a large dance floor where patrons show off their best moves. With multiple bars throughout, Porta is not only awesome for public entertainment, but awesome for private events such as corporate functions.

Atlas Public House

As the most unique restaurant on the block, the Atlas Public House is the perfect location for Jersey City's diverse population. The partners who created this hotspot spent years sampling delicious foods from all around the world. They were able to master the culinary techniques and recreate the tastes and flavors of these authentic, world-inspired dishes.

Archer

Different from your traditional bar, this woodsy Jersey City hotspot is an eclectic cocktail bar featuring classic options and house specialties, plus an inventive gamey bar menu featuring items like elk meatballs and wild board sloppy Joe's.

Dullboy

This intimate cocktail bar takes a step back from the usual, boasting a serene, laid-back vibe. The literary theme is presented through books and vintage typewriters on the wall. Their signature cocktails are even named after female literary figures.

Skinner's Loft

More of a morning person? This place is the perfect brunch spot, providing an elegant, comfortable place to enjoy fresh, contemporary cuisine. You can enjoy your meal on their rooftop perch that overlooks the Newark Ave walkway.

WORD

After brunch, browse through the shelves at the charming, independent community bookstore. This cafe and independent community bookstore is a dose of quaint neighborhood charm.

Barcade

Get your Pac-Man on while enjoying a drink at this fun and entertaining video game bar. This retro hotspot focuses on classic video games. The combination of arcade and bar makes Barcade an original entertaining hub.

Fabco and Jemma Loan Co Inc. are fun places to shop and highlight a neighborhood that has truly blossomed into one of style and class. Jersey City is a great place for those who love to explore. The area is perfect for warm summer months when residents can window shop and grab a bite to eat. The 500-foot stretch known as Newark Avenue is an easy commute via the PATH train, right off the Grove Street Station, and is only a 7-minute ride from Manhattan.
